

KATE - Audition Side

[Kate and Milton exchange glances, then stand up suddenly and pull out tasers. The party guests gasp.]

KATE: [also now speaking in Russian accent] So, here is the situation. You have seen us, you know we are not Americans, so our cover is, how you say, blown. We have an extraction squad on hand for such occasions, but they will not arrive immediately. So in the meantime, you all are hostages. [To Milton] Thank you for the reminder. [she turns to Sam and Dirk] Betty, Bob, whatever stupid Christmas Musical name you prefer, come with me. You resist, and a party guest gets a big shock. Da?

[Sam and Dirk, looking utterly defeated, are led out of the room by Kate.]

MILTON: Now, who can sing Russian Christmas song? [starts singing in Russian as the party guests sit in fear]

[Scene 10]

[Sam and Dirk are sitting in back to back chairs with Christmas lights strung around them, tying them fast to the chairs and to each other. Kate finishes tugging the last knot.]

DIRK: What, didn't think to bring rope with you from the motherland?

KATE: It's festive. I like it. Don't even try to escape. Do svidaniya!